

SECURITY ENVELOPES

Security envelopes and bags are an integral part of today's world of business and data protection. They are mainly used for transferring and storing important documents, money, reports, statements and confidential materials as well as other data. Thanks to their durable construction made of three-layer film, characterized by high mechanical strength, they are extremely durable as well as resistant to external factors.

A key safety feature of these envelopes and bags is a special security tape that prevents opening without leaving marks. Any attempt of opening, whether mechanical, thermal or chemical, leaves clear traces in the form of discoloration, deformation and the text "OPENED STOP," making it impossible to manipulate them without the knowledge of the sender or the recipient.

In addition, all packages are neatly labeled with individual numbers, barcodes, micro-printing with an option to produce them with the receipts for effective identification and tracking of shipments. Secure side seals provide additional protection against manipulation attempts and access to the contents.

In addition, the envelopes and bags can be equipped with a pouch for document accompanying the shipment, paper labels, barcodes (based on certain algorithm), QR codes for easy identification and tracking of parcel. All of our products are recyclable, which is an important part of environmental care.
